Purchasing a toy breed.

The buyer understands that a toy breed is an extremely fragile creature and that additional care will be needed to insure the health and well being of the puppy... Young puppies can be prone to hypoglycemia condition or (low blood sugar).... Hypoglycemia can be brought on by stress, strenuous exercise or over handling. But most often it is brought on by failure to eat sufficient amounts of food .. Puppies become depressed when first taken away from their mom and litter mates.... They need to be monitored and encouraged to eat and drink. They need a lot of TLC.. Some signs of hypoglycemia are gray pale gums, instead of pink gums . Overall weakness , wobbly gait, anorexia, and in some severe case seizures. If seizures occur, karo syrup or honey rubbed on the gums reverses the condition temporarily.. Bring the puppy to your vet ASAP.. Problems arising from hypoglycemia, malnutrition ,or dehydration are not covered under the terms of this contract.. It is the buyers responsibility to properly care for and observe the condition of their puppy....
